

BioCologne Innovation Award 2010 at the PerMediCon in Cologne, 15-16 June 2010

Call for Posters

On the occasion of the PerMediCon 2010 BioCologne e.V. proudly presents the

"BioCologne Innovation Award 2010"

You are called to present your results, your idea or your innovative product which is suitable and well investigated for practical use in human health.

The award will honour young scientists, students and post-docs within their first year presenting their scientific work in research and development in the context of "Personalized Medicine" on a poster. The winning innovation can be a substance, service or (technical) process that is suitable for practical application and has a good chance of being profitable in the near future.

The award presentation of the best innovations takes place at a special ceremony in the exhibition area on June 15th. The BioCologne Innovation Award is endowed with prize money of 5,000 Euros which will be split among the three best poster presentations. The evaluation of the scientific papers will be done by a jury of competent experts from science, industry and economy. It is mandatory to be present at the ceremony!
